Subject: Possible meeting on Dimock today

Hello all, I have been trying to set up a meeting on Dimock, and so far have been unsuccessful in finding any time all next week that a group can participate. In looking at scheduler, it appears that many of us are available today at three, and although I know that is not the ideal time and is short notice, I'm asking that you hold that time until I can find out later this morning if indeed we can get a group together then. Alternatively, if you can let me know that that time just won't work for you.

If the meeting happens, I will get the call in number. Vicky, I realize that you aren't here today, and wonder if you could call in, or alternatively, it looks like Karen is here today and she can attend.

Thanks, Heather
